I have to take edTPA! What do I do!?

First, go to this link and read all about it!
http://www.calstatela.edu/academic/ccoe/edci/div_edci_tpa_index.htm

Then, contact your instructor

For Single Subject, Professor Michael Haussler, TPA Coordinator
mhaussl@calstatela.edu

For Multiple Subject, Professor Steven Brownson
sbrowns@calstatela.edu

A few details:

- You will register for edTPA through Pearson at http://www.edtpa.com/ during Student Teaching.
- There is a $300 fee for edTPA and it covers all development costs and operational assessment services associated with the resources and support for implementation, delivery, scoring and reporting of edTPA, as well as customer support service for candidates.
- Scorers are trained specifically to edTPA rubrics, they use standardized scoring procedures and are calibrated and monitored during scoring.

CCOE offers two kinds of workshop classes:
One in the semester prior to student-teaching, to familiarize yourself with the TPA process.
The second during student-teaching, as you actually pay for and submit the TPA.

Each class meets five times during the semester, on a Friday.

We provide the required texts in the class
- edTPA Single Subject Handbook
- edTPA Elementary Literacy Handbook for Literacy and Math
- edTPA-Making Good Choices

You may review the following site for edTPA Portfolio examples from Washington State:
http://www.passedtpa.com/